FRAUD UNIT IS ORGANIZED BY THE TREASURY

Washington, March 27—(AP)—The treasury advised senate crime investigators today it is setting up a special fraud section to check on the income tax returns of gamblers and racketeers.

Secretary Snyder sent to the committee a pledge of a continuing drive to bring "chiselers to justice". His statement was presented by Edward Foley, under secretary of the treasury.

Snyder said there has not been and will not be any letup in the Internal Revenue Bureau's warfare "against major league criminals." He noted it was the income tax men who bagged the late Scarface Al Capone, Chicago gang overlord of the prohibition era.

George J. Schoeneman, commissioner of internal revenue, followed up Snyder's statement with testimony that his agents are now investigating nearly 2,500 tax cases "in the criminal area."

Foley, Schoeneman and other treasury officials testified at what was billed as the crime probes last televised hearing before the scheduled windup of their investigation at the end of this week.

Several odds and ends are to be dealt with before the windup. Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said the group will decide on Friday what further action to take against three defiant witnesses who are already under $10,000 bond each for contempt.

The three are Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf, both of Cleveland, described by the committee as top rank gamblers, and Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, Chicago Capone gangster. All refused to answer the committee's questions about underworld activities.

Just before today's session began, three committee members disclosed to a reporter they have received threats against their lives.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) said he had received two threats by letter and one by telephone. Kefauver said he had received a number of threats "in crackpot letters" but did not take them seriously. Senator Hunt (D-Wyo.) said he got a warning letter against "sticking my nose in other people's business" during recent hearings in Miami, Fla.

The crime committee called the treasury officials before it because (Turn to Page Nine)

Government Price Experts Aim to Fix Ceiling Prices on Meats by Mid-April

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Fixing of dollars and cents ceiling prices on steak and pork chops by mid-April is the target at which government price experts aimed today.

Frankly acknowledging the meat price and supply situation is their No. 1 problem, Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) experts are working feverishly on a solution.

Both Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle have said the ceilings will be ordered as soon as possible. But they haven't given any indication as to the probable date.

Gov. Fine Summons Top House And Senate Chiefs for Final Conferences on Tax Measures

Harrisburg, March 27—(AP)—Gov. Fine today summoned top house and senate leaders for final talks on tax bills—particularly the controversial one calling for a half cent income tax—before presenting them to the general assembly.

Attorney General Robert E. Woodside spent much of the night setting out in detail the ramifications of the income tax proposal. One of his problems was to decide exactly what can be considered income in order to avoid payment of a tax on unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation, occupational disease benefits and possibly pensions.

Another was to strengthen a companion bill permitting Philadelphia and some 200 other municipalities to continue local wage taxes.

Still to be decided, however, was whether non-residents should be exempted from local wage taxes. Members of the legislature from suburban Philadelphia make it plain their support of the state income tax plan depends upon this decision. They want Philadelphia to be stripped of power further to impose its one and one half per cent wage tax on non-residents.

Introduction of the tax bills was preceded by a scathing denunciation of the administration's tax program by senate Democrats led by Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland).

The Democratic floor leader insisted in a major tax speech last night that a state income tax was unnecessary. He described Fine's $1,220,000,000 budget for the next two years as "full of fat."

G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman and president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, volunteered his support of the income tax, terming it "reasonably sound."

Owlett opposed Fine's bid for the nomination last year but the two have since reconciled many of their differences.

On another legislative front, Dent said the $33,000,000 spent to clean up the Schuylkill river has not improved "the quality of the water one bit."

Another senate group—the agriculture committee—started the ball rolling for vote on the issue of permitting the sale of colored oleomargarine.

He sent the names of the senate where they were quickly confirmed.

The five public nominees are Dr. Theodore A. Distler, Lancaster; Emory F. Bacon, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Katherine S. Carpenter, Jersey Shore; Louis G. Feldmann, Hazleton, and William J. Meinel, Huntingdon Valley, Montgomery county.

Dr. Distler was given a leave of absence from the presidency of Franklin and Marshall college to become the $15,000 a year director of the civil defense commission, predecessor of the new agency.

Distler is expected to be named executive director of the council. The council will name its own chairman.

Although the council will serve as directing agency for all civil defense work in the state, each county, city, borough and township also will be required to establish a local defense organization.

The major portion of the legislation setting up the defense program was signed into law by Fine last week. The last bill—it would impose the death penalty in case of industrial sabotage resulting in loss of life—is now on Fine's desk.

WARNING IS SOUNDED BY SEC. ACHESON

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson urged the American republics today to take immediate action to meet a menace posed by international Communism.

He said no free nation anywhere in the world is secure against the menace, and called for full economic and military cooperation with the United States.

Acheson delivered the keynote speech of the first regular session of the Interamerican Conference of foreign ministers.

The instruments of Soviet Russia's "new imperialism," he said, are "a formidable machine of war and the international Communist movement."

"Never before have we faced a menace of this magnitude," he continued. "Never before has there been so great a challenge to our determination to preserve our independence as nations."

The freedom of the individual man as well as the independence of governments is threatened, he said, and the threat demands "action now."

Only by building up their strength can the free nations provide a deterrent force which "is the only real road to peace," the secretary said.

To do this, he said, each nation must contribute its full share in the spirit of cooperation characteristic of the interamerican tradition.

Acheson suggested that the American republics might prepare a coordinated defense plan for the hemisphere as soon as possible.

In considering military strength, he said, any disturbances to the peaceful relations of the republics would be detrimental and hence all should "make fullest use of available machinery for the peaceful settlement of disputes."

Acheson keynoted a session at which the foreign ministers of 21 American republics aim to work out mutual defense measures. (From Page Eight)

Attorney Is Named To Civil Service Board of Borough

Attorney Donald S. Mervine, of 1106 Conewango avenue, was elected a member of the Warren Borough's Civil Service Board at an adjourned meeting of borough council in the Municipal building last night.

He succeeds Herbert J. Onions, whose resignation was accepted by the solons last night. Onions said in a letter to council that he will be away from Warren most of the time and plans to move out of the borough.

Other members of the Civil Service Board are Councilman R. H. Trusler and Howard Alexander.

Trusler said he very much regrets Mr. Onions had found it necessary to resign, adding that "he has been a very wonderful help on the board."

At the request of the police committee, the Civil Service Board was directed to conduct an examination for prospective patrolmen.

The solons also accepted the bid of the Annex Garage of Warren for furnishing the street department with a three-quarter ton pickup truck. The bids had been opened at council's March 5 meeting, but action was delayed pending receipt of more specific specifications from the bidders. The price was $1500 plus the street department's present 1940 Dodge pickup truck.

Paris, March 27—(AP)—The western deputy foreign ministers returned to their conference with the Russians today determined to work out arrangements for a top-level meeting on easing world tensions, informed sources said.

British Deputy Ernest Davies was reported to be carrying such instructions from his chief, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, when he returned from London for the fourth week of the deputies' conference.

U. S. Delegate Philip Jessup also is reported to have instructions from Washington to keep on trying to arrange a list of subjects on which a foreign ministers' conference can be held.

The three western delegates met at the French foreign ministry prior to the four-power session.

Nine Letters From Prisoners of Reds

Columbus, Ga., March 27—(AP)—Along with a letter from her missing husband, Mrs. Marvin E. Jeffers received eight letters from prisoners of Chinese Reds. Two were for Pennsylvanians.

Mrs. Jeffers said yesterday she received the letters without explanation in an envelope addressed to her by her husband, a master sergeant previously missing in action in Korea.

All nine letters praised Chinese treatment of prisoners in almost identical words. Mrs. Jeffers is forwarding the other eight letters.

Mobilization Chief Says Inflationary Spiral 'Moderated'

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson said today the country has "in sight" the military power to deter any aggressor.

Wilson also told a news conference the inflationary spiral has been "moderated." But he said the government may have to "put on the brakes a little harder."

"We still have the internal enemy of inflation that we must lick if we are to win the whole fight,"

Wilson indicated his office of Defense Mobilization will seek further power to curb prices, including revision of the defense production act's restrictions on price ceilings for farm products.

But he said that precisely how this should be changed has not been decided.

The mobilization chief expressed hope that the Wage Stabilization Board, now out of business because of labor's walkout, soon will be reorganized and functioning.

Union labor representatives walked out in January after the board approved a wage control formula limiting pay increases to 10 per cent above the level of January, 1950. The labor men said they were protesting also other dissatisfactions with the mobilization program. They have demanded that a new board have power to settle wage disputes.

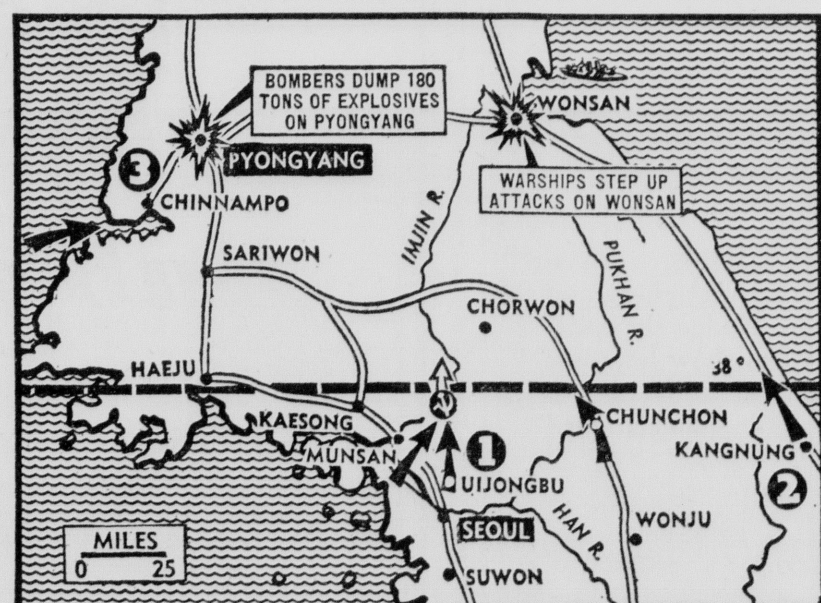

Wilson indicated the new board will have some dispute-settling powers, but said it is still uncertain whether President Truman must call a full-dress labor-management conference before disputes-settlement machinery can be set up.

The nation's progress in rearmament will be made plain in ODM's first quarterly report to Mr. Truman, due next week-end, Wilson said. He gave this clue to its contents: "If I were a principal enemy I would be frightened by our progress."

It was Wilson's first meeting with reporters in 12 weeks. Even before it, he had been reported by aides to be much more optimistic now than earlier over progress.

Council Delays Action on Rent Control After Lengthy Debate at Adjourned Meeting

The pros and cons of rent control for Warren borough were debated at length by Warren borough councilmen at an adjourned meeting in the Municipal building, but definite action on the problem was tabled until the solon's April meeting next Monday night.

The debate was touched off when Nick Merenick, chairman of a special rent control committee, said that it was the recommendation of his group that rent control be continued in the borough until June 30, under provisions of a new federal law extending rent control from March 31 to June 30.

Councilman George Klinefister, who is opposing rent control, said the framers of the rent control act had in mind "an acute housing shortage" and that the committee should have determined whether there is now a housing shortage in Warren.

Klinefister then asked Bill Simonsen, a local landlord, to present some figures on new housing units which they had culled from building permits at the borough secretary's office.

Simonsen said the permits for the past 10 years showed 119 new dwellings had been built in Warren, and that 35 new apartment units had been created. He also said there were some 73 other permits for alterations and repairs which provided additional living quarters for families, making a total of about 200 new dwelling units for families. He said an estimated 200 other homes and apartments have been built in the area immediately surrounding Warren, and also pointed out that the census figures showed the population of Warren had declined in 1950 over that reported in 1940.

Simonsen said he was "disappointed" in the rent control committee's recommendation, especially in view of the fact that virtually all of the testimony given at a recent public hearing held by the committee was in favor of rent de-control.

It was pointed out that the public hearing drew a very small crowd and that virtually every witness was speaking from a landlord's viewpoint.

Councilman Bracket Ayers said there is no question that a housing shortage exists in Warren. "You only need to watch the classified ads in the Times-Mirror each night to know that," he added.

Ayers said that since the public meeting, he has had many calls from tenants who said they were afraid to appear at the open session because of what action landlords might take against them if rents should be de-controlled. Councilmen Merenick and John Carbon also said they had received many similar calls from tenants.

Virtually all of the councilmen agreed that the present rent control law works a hardship on some landlords whose rents were frozen at "depression levels," but they were far from agreement on whether controls should be extended or lifted.

Some of the councilmen wanted to put the matter up to a vote last night, but Council President W. E. Rice suggested that the solicitor should be given an opportunity to see the new federal rent control extension act, which was signed by Pres. Truman last Friday, before such a vote was taken.

"We ought to know what we're voting for or against," Rice said in suggesting that the matter be tabled one week until the April 2 meeting. Council agreed to the tabling action, and a motion for adjournment terminated the lengthy discussion.

REPORT SAYS THE CHINESE ARE MASSING

Tokyo, March 27—(AP)—American troops fought through a Chinese regiment today on the western front in a slow advance toward the Red Korean border. They killed 350 Communists.

Nearby another U. S. unit battled three battalions of rear-guard Chinese. By late Tuesday afternoon the Americans had squeezed the Reds into a trap. United Nations warplanes dropped surrender leaflets.

An American division staff officer said he did not believe the Chinese would put up another major stand south of parallel 38. But he added:

"I think if we hit them above the parallel we'll find them fighting like sons of guns."

Elements of six Chinese armies were reported massing just north of the border. A report said Reds defense positions were built directly in front of the present U. N. line about two miles north of the parallel.

The Chinese 26th Army Corps has pulled back across the Imjin River.

An American spokesman said the Chinese regiment mauled by the Americans Tuesday was part of the 77th Division. He said the division could no longer be regarded as an "effective, organized fighting force." The second Chinese force was not identified.

On the Americans' left flank, South Korean troops by sundown Tuesday were within five miles of the parallel in force. They dug in along the Imjin river east of Munson. To get there they marched across Korean foothills without opposition.

Allied planes Tuesday supported western front ground action. They hit gun positions, pillboxes, tanks and vehicles.

Although the main U. N. line is within small arms range of 38, only one penetration in force has been reported. On the east coast, Republic of Korea troops occupied the small village of Yonpoo. U. S. Eighth Army spokesmen said the village had no military significance.

On the east central front U. N. troops encountered rain and mud but no enemy as they advanced to within six miles of 38.

The Red buildup was reported on the central front around Kumhwa. This is a road and rail center 20 air miles north of 38.

Communist troops have been spotted south of the town, and in the hills to the east and west.

Heavy traffic also was spotted on the roads around P'yongyang, the North Korean capital and Sukas

County High in Correction of Remedial Defects Among Rural School Students

Lenore Thurston, county supervisor of state nursing activities, reports that figures received from Harrisburg show Warren county has a very high percentage in correction of remedial defects among rural students in comparison with other counties of the state.

Physical examinations given in fourth class schools of Warren county disclosed 1,157 remedial defects and, of this number, follow-ups show 1,078 have been corrected.

Also included in the nurses' reports for the past year are figures concerning the various clinics operated in Warren borough and county. Dr. Fortune, Erie, had charge of two orthopedic clinics, in which 202 children were examined; 50 venereal disease clinics were held in the clinic house next to the post office, with Dr. Floyd Schuler in charge each Wednesday, 10 to 11 a. m.; 51 chest clinics were held in the state nurses' office in the city building. Dr. Albert Aberly in charge from 1 until 2 p. m. each Wednesday. In this last group, 11 new active cases of tuberculosis were found, 16 patients were admitted to state sanitariums, and 5 were admitted to private sanitariums.

Dr. Eberly was also in charge of 51 pneumothorax clinics held at Warren General Hospital.

State Child Health Centers in the county, with the exception of Warren borough, have all shown an increase in attendance. Figures for this work show the following results: Tidioute, in charge of Dr. Buckingham, 199 babies examined and 117 immunized; Sugar Grove, Dr. Grant examined 155 and immunized 128; Sheffield, in charge of Dr. McHenry, 151 examined and 86 immunized; Russell, 176 examinations by Dr. Lee Borger and 120 immunizations.

In addition to work with the clinics, the nurses have accomplished a variety of field work: Contacts of active tuberculosis patients were brought in for x-rays; mantoux tests given were read; contacts of active VD patients were brought in for tests; needy families were visited and assisted; talks were given at several PTA meetings, and meetings of nursing groups were attended.

Murphy Store Manager Transferred

R. S. Brown, manager of the local G. C. Murphy Co. store has been transferred to Youngstown, O., effective April first, where he will take over the management of the large and modern store that has recently been completed in that city.

Mr. Brown and family have resided in Brook street in this city for the past three years and have a host of friends here who will regret to learn that they are to leave. His successor will be C. W. Henderson, who is now located in the Pittsburgh area, and who has spent the past five years in some of the largest stores, having recently completed 15 years of service with the firm. The new and modern store Mr. Brown is taking over in Youngstown is air conditioned throughout, and it is expected that the official opening will take place some time in June. In the meantime he will be ordering all new merchandise for the establishment, as well as ordering and supervising the installation of new equipment.

"Russ" Brown started with the Murphy Company 23 years ago in the stockroom of his home town Murphy store in Bellefonte. He was promoted to assistant manager at Ellwood City in 1931 and subsequently served as assistant in several other stores until being named to the management of store number 70 in Pittsburgh in 1938. His next managerial assignment was in Irwin which he held from 1940 to 1944 when he was called into military service. After two years duty with the U. S. Navy Mr. Brown returned to the Murphy Company and was assigned to store number 196 East Liberty for a short period of a refresher training, later being named manager at Bethlehem. He was promoted to his present assignment as manager at Warren in October, 1947. He has built up an excellent record over the years and his performance in management qualifies him highly for the appointment to the first new store to be opened by the Murphy Co. in 1951. His successor won top position in honor roll standings for the year 1950.

Fire Wardens Hold Dinner-Meeting at Sheffield Tonight

Sheffield, March 27 — The Department of Forests and Waters has scheduled its annual training meeting for fire wardens with the Sheffield area men to meet for a dinner-meeting this evening at 6:30 p. m. in the American Legion home. The American Legion Auxiliary will serve the dinner.

Sheffield's volunteer fire department met last night at the township building with only routine business discussed. A warning is to be issued regarding the following of the firetrucks to the scene of a fire and also the parking of onlookers' cars. During a recent alarm the second firetruck was hindered by people following the first truck; luckily the second truck was not needed at the scene.

Forestry movies will be shown by Frank Rudolph at the evening meeting this month of the Sheffield Garden club stated for 8 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Archie S. Brown, Pickering St.

Mrs. Walter Hoover and Mrs. John Burns will serve the refreshments for the meeting Thursday night. The meeting date has been postponed from Wednesday to Thursday night.

The initial session of the standard course in Red Cross first aid will be conducted at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the auditorium of Lincoln grade school. Persons interested should plan to attend.

The Homebuilders' class of the First Methodist church will meet at 8 p. m. tonight at the home of Mrs. L. O. Eisenhauer with Mrs. Eisenhauer, Mrs. Fred M. Carlson and Miss Edith Chamberlain as the refreshment committee.

Devotions will be led by Mrs. Clair Young; Mrs. Bertha Wolfe and Mrs. C. L. Wert will have the entertainment.

Students in Sheffield township schools will return to their classes at the regular opening hour tomorrow morning after the Easter vacation period which started last Wednesday afternoon.

Election of officers will take place at the meeting tonight of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary with all members urged to be present. The unit will meet at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Joseph O'Connor, Pickering street. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Mike Moldovan and Mrs. John Simko.

Sheffielders are invited to the Girl Scout Birthday craft show today at the Warren YWCA. Troops from all over the county including each Girl Scout and Brownie troop in Sheffield will have exhibits at this show from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. A style show of Scouting uniforms will be held at 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. and refreshments will be served by the Senior Girl Scouts of the county.

Pittsburgh Office Of Revenue Bureau Leads In Refunds

The Pittsburgh Office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue leads the Nation in the number and amount of Income Tax Refunds which have reached the hands of its taxpaying public.

Stanley Granger, Collector of Internal Revenue, for the Western District of Pennsylvania, stated today that his Refunding Program was concluded on March 20, and that some 866,815 taxpayers in this district were given refunds that approximated $38,727,170.00.

The Pittsburgh Office which has led the Nation in concluding its refunding program, finished three days ahead of last year. Mr. Granger also stated that he expects to lower last year's record in the cost per return when the figure was .059 cents. Last year this figure was about .02 cents per return less than the next office.

The big item of interest to the taxpaying public is, of course, the fact that this district will not pay a single cent of interest which is consistent with the record of the past six years.

It Takes More Than Azaleas To Make an Azalea Festival

AZALEAS AND MOSS: Greenfield Lake, in Wilmington, N. C., is one of the major attractions of the annual azalea festival March 29-April 1, which features a lot more than azaleas.

Wilmington, N. C.—(NEA) — Besides flowers, this year's Festival will feature golfers, checker players, pretty girls, hill-billy orchestras and assorted military men.

The annual celebration, which this year hopes to attract more than 100,000 visitors, marks the climax of southeastern North Carolina's azalea season.

For the genuine azalea lover, the festival is the big event of the year. All types and colors will be out in profuse bloom in shades ranging from white, through magenta, purple, pink, lavender and red to crimson.

Besides Wilmington's own Greenfield Park, two private gardens will be open to the public. These are the Orton Plantation and Airline Estate, both famous for their acres of well-tended gardens. The azaleas themselves have competition from late-blooming camellias, white dogwood, roses and wisteria.

But there's much more to the big doings than just admiring flowers. This year's festival will be dedicated to the armed services, and Marines and GIs from nearby posts will be there to sniff the azaleas.

There'll be the annual $10,000 PGAG Azalea Open Golf tournament, with last year's champ, Dutch Harrison, defending his title. And there's the Southeastern U. S. Checker Tournament, run during the festival.

All sorts of radio personalities will do broadcasts from Wilmington during the big doings. And

Navy Dep't Needs Typists-Stenogs

The Navy Department, Washington, D. C., has issued an emergency order for an unlimited number of female civilian typists and stenographers to report for work in Washington at the earliest possible date, according to Mrs. Ellen K. Monk, Navy Representative from the Executive Offices of the Secretary of the Navy.

Mrs. Monk will be at the New York State Employment Service, 205 N. Main street, Jamestown, N. Y., to interview, test and hire interested young women from 9 a. m.-4:30 p. m. March 27th through April 6th.

To qualify for these positions, Mrs. Monk has pointed out that applicants must be high school graduates, at least eighteen years of age, be able to type 40 words per minute and pass a brief clerical test. Stenographers must, in addition, be able to take dictation at the rate of 80 words per minute. No experience is required and salaries start at $2650 per annum.

Girls currently enrolled as seniors, who expect to graduate within the next three months may be examined now and report to work in Washington within two weeks following their graduation, providing they have reached their 18th birthday at that time.

Temporary housing is arranged before applicants arrive in Washington, and assistance is given by the Navy Department and the Y. W. C. A. in locating permanent residence.

Dairy cows will show an increase of from five to ten per cent in milk production when water is available to them at all times.

there'll be a Community Sing and a Teen-Age Azalea Ball—you've missed something if you haven't seen an azalea dance.

Another big event is the annual parade, this one lasting an hour and a half. There'll be more than 50 floats, decorated with you-know-whats, and featuring pretty girls, too. And 20 bands will tootle down Wilmington's main street.

Next on the program is a folk music program, featuring North Carolina's "King of the Hill Billies", Arthur Smith. Later on, there's a band concert scheduled right smack in the middle of an azalea bed in the Park.

The climax of all the hilarity will be the Queen's Coronation Ball. Nobody knows who the Queen will be. They do know she'll be a Hollywood actress—at least the past queens have been. And she'll be pretty. And she'll carry a bouquet of a certain kind of flowers.

The odds are it won't be a dandelion.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL

Pausing to review achievements of the School Safety Patrol over the past two decades, exponents of this movement to preserve the lives and limbs of school children on Pennsylvania's roads, which is proving so popular and satisfactory in Warren borough and a half dozen rural communities in the county, are laying plans for an expanded and intensified program in the future.

A comparison of child fatalities 20 years ago, when the School Safety Patrol was recognized as a legal adjunct to safety education, with figures of recent years shows an astonishing reduction in children from five to 14 years old struck and killed by automobiles and trucks.

Secretary of Revenue Otto F. Messner, who has advocated teaching and practicing traffic safety principles in the schools for many years, reveals that an average of 262 young lives used to be snuffed out every year, whereas only 113 are killed this way now-a-days.

"The death toll is still a shocking one," the Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Advisory Committee comments, "but an improvement of 57 per cent is most encouraging. And when you consider that there are 65 per cent more motor vehicles now than there were then, the reduction is remarkable."

Although many factors enter into this favorable trend, most experts agree that the thousands of students serving as safety patrol members have played a leading role. The youthful form with its white Sam Browne belt has become a symbol of safety for children on their way to and from school.

Ivan J. Stehman, chief of the division of Highway Safety Education of the Department of Public Instruction, took occasion to acknowledge the invaluable help from teachers, school directors and administrators, various groups, and countless safety-minded individuals in making the patrol system a most effective medium against child traffic tragedies.

"The management and financing of this essential activity, strictly speaking, are the responsibilities of the school," he declares. "But in actual practice, automobile and service clubs and other organizations always come to the financial aid of schools unable to pay for equipment and supplies. Their generous cooperation is sincerely appreciated."

Chief Stehman discloses that while more than 37,000 boys and girls now are patrol members, there still remain communities where patrols have not been organized, although their need is obvious.

"The welfare of the Commonwealth's precious youngsters demands that the system be made universal in Pennsylvania."

CHANGE OF SENTIMENT

It wasn't so long ago that Democratic Senators Douglas of Illinois, Fulbright of Arkansas and Kefauver of Tennessee were known among their party's professionals as the "Gold Dust Triplets."

The idea was that they were just too darned up-right and consequently were almost insufferable. Fulbright was digging into RFC, Kefauver into crime, and Douglas was upsetting a dozen political apple-carts with his tireless searching for facts.

But when these efforts hit real pay dirt and the moral fiber of the Democratic administration was cast in question, the professionals changed their attitude. Henceforth it may be proper to identify Douglas, Fulbright and Kefauver as the "three saviors." For that's what the regulars hope they will prove to be.

Not long ahead Congress will start hearing again how necessary to the nation are a whole host of flood control projects. The story won't be quite the same this time. Whatever justification offered for them in the past, this year they'll all be "absolutely essential to the national defense." Just you wait and see.

U. S. Defense Program Puts Rental Picture in New Light

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—National Association of Real Estate Boards President Alexander Sumner, of Newark, N. J., argued against the 90-day extension of rent controls just passed by Congress. Reason given was that extension of federal rent controls would affect only 5.6 per cent of the people and the same percentage of total dwelling units.

Stated that way, the argument for continuing rent controls looked rather thin. But when you start translating the percentages into numbers of houses and numbers of people affected, the story takes on slightly different proportions.

A lot of things have happened to the U. S. housing picture in the last 10 years. Figures from the 1950 census of housing reveal some surprising trends when carefully analyzed, according to the office of Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods.

There are, or were, 45,875,000 housing units in the U. S. at the end of last year. If rent control authority had been allowed to expire March 31, approximately 2.6 million units would have remained under control until June 30. That's where the 5.6 per cent figure came from.

In these 2.6 million units under extended federal rent controls, however, there were some 8.5 million people. Most of these people were living in the more congested and highly industrialized areas.

THIS isn't the complete picture, either. Actually under rent control are more than nine million dwelling units with some 30 million inhabitants. This runs approximately 16 per cent of the total housing and 20 per cent of the population.

The basis for the NAREB percentage computations is also open to question. While nearly 45.9 million dwelling units were reported in the housing census of 1950, nearly 6.5 million were farm houses, which never were under rent controls.

Owner occupied housing must also be deducted from the 42.5 million housing units to get the true rental picture. There has been a tremendous increase in home ownership in the last 10 years. In 1940 there were 15 million owner-occupied houses in the U. S. In 1950 there were over 23 million.

This leaves only 19 million housing units available for rent in the United States in 1950. This is half a million fewer units than there were for rent in 1940—522,000 fewer, in round numbers.

The importance of this last figure is not to be overlooked. In spite of the fact that over eight million new housing units were built in the last 10 years—and most of them were built since the end of the war—there has actually been a decline in the number of rental units available.

THIS shift from tenancy to home ownership is largely accounted for by a housing change in the rural areas. The number of tenant housing units decreased by 1,284,000, although the number of housing units for rent in cities increased by 763,000.

What all these figures boil down to are the facts that there are two million rural houses for rent in the U. S. and 17 million non-farm housing units for rent. And with nine million of these urban housing units still under rent controls until June 30, the percentage is over 50, and not a fraction over five, as represented.

Since 1947, rents have been under gradual but steady decontrol, which is generally admitted as they should be. In 1946 there were 15.5 million units under federal rent controls.

But with the United States entering another defense production period, the need for re-establishing rent controls in crowded defense plant areas is becoming more and more apparent. That is the next rent battle that Congress must fight, before June 30.

Announcement was made this morning at the high school of the cast for the annual senior play, "Skidding," which will be presented in May. Students chosen for parts are Lucy Donaldson, Mary Hubley, Rachel Olson, Margaret McLaren, Frances Ullrich, Fred Maurer, Wallace Lott, Gilbert Check, Gerald Irwin and Robert Wheelock.

Yesterday, March 26, marked the 18th anniversary of the worst flood the borough of Warren has experienced since 1865. Hundreds of families were compelled to move to high ground and business establishments along Pennsylvania avenue lost thousands of dollars when cellars became flooded. Among those suffering most was the Mirror, Folkman building, the Times, A. O. Anderson Bicycle store and the shop of C. E. Hamm, contractor. Breaks in gas mains in various parts of the flood district caused considerable inconvenience and the Phoenix Furniture Company suffered a loss when a great deal of lumber was swept off the island.

War Bulletins: Yugoslav proxy agency is overthrown. Regent Prince Paul is reported fleeing. Britain will back the new Yugoslav government with her navy, army and air force to lay open the right flank of the German thrust into the Balkans, a reliable source said today.

Harry A. Summers, director of instrumental music in the Warren borough schools, announced names of local students who will go to Clarion to participate in the district semi-finals of the Pennsylvania Forensic League competitions. Soloists are Miss Patty Smith, William Loucks, Loren Wright, Dorothy Bosine, Gail Schuler, Donald Huck and Robert Folkman.

Warren residents will feel a particular pride in the recognition just granted one of its artists through announcement that Miss Marion Sanford is the recipient of one of the 85 fellowships awarded by the John S. Guggenheim Memorial Foundation.

MUG ON A PUG—Bulldog Ameswaite Subrette presented this friendly expression to judges at the Scottish Kennel Club Show in Glasgow. Spectators at the affair spent a lot of time admiring the flat-faced, black-nosed bulldog, and he seemed to bask in it.

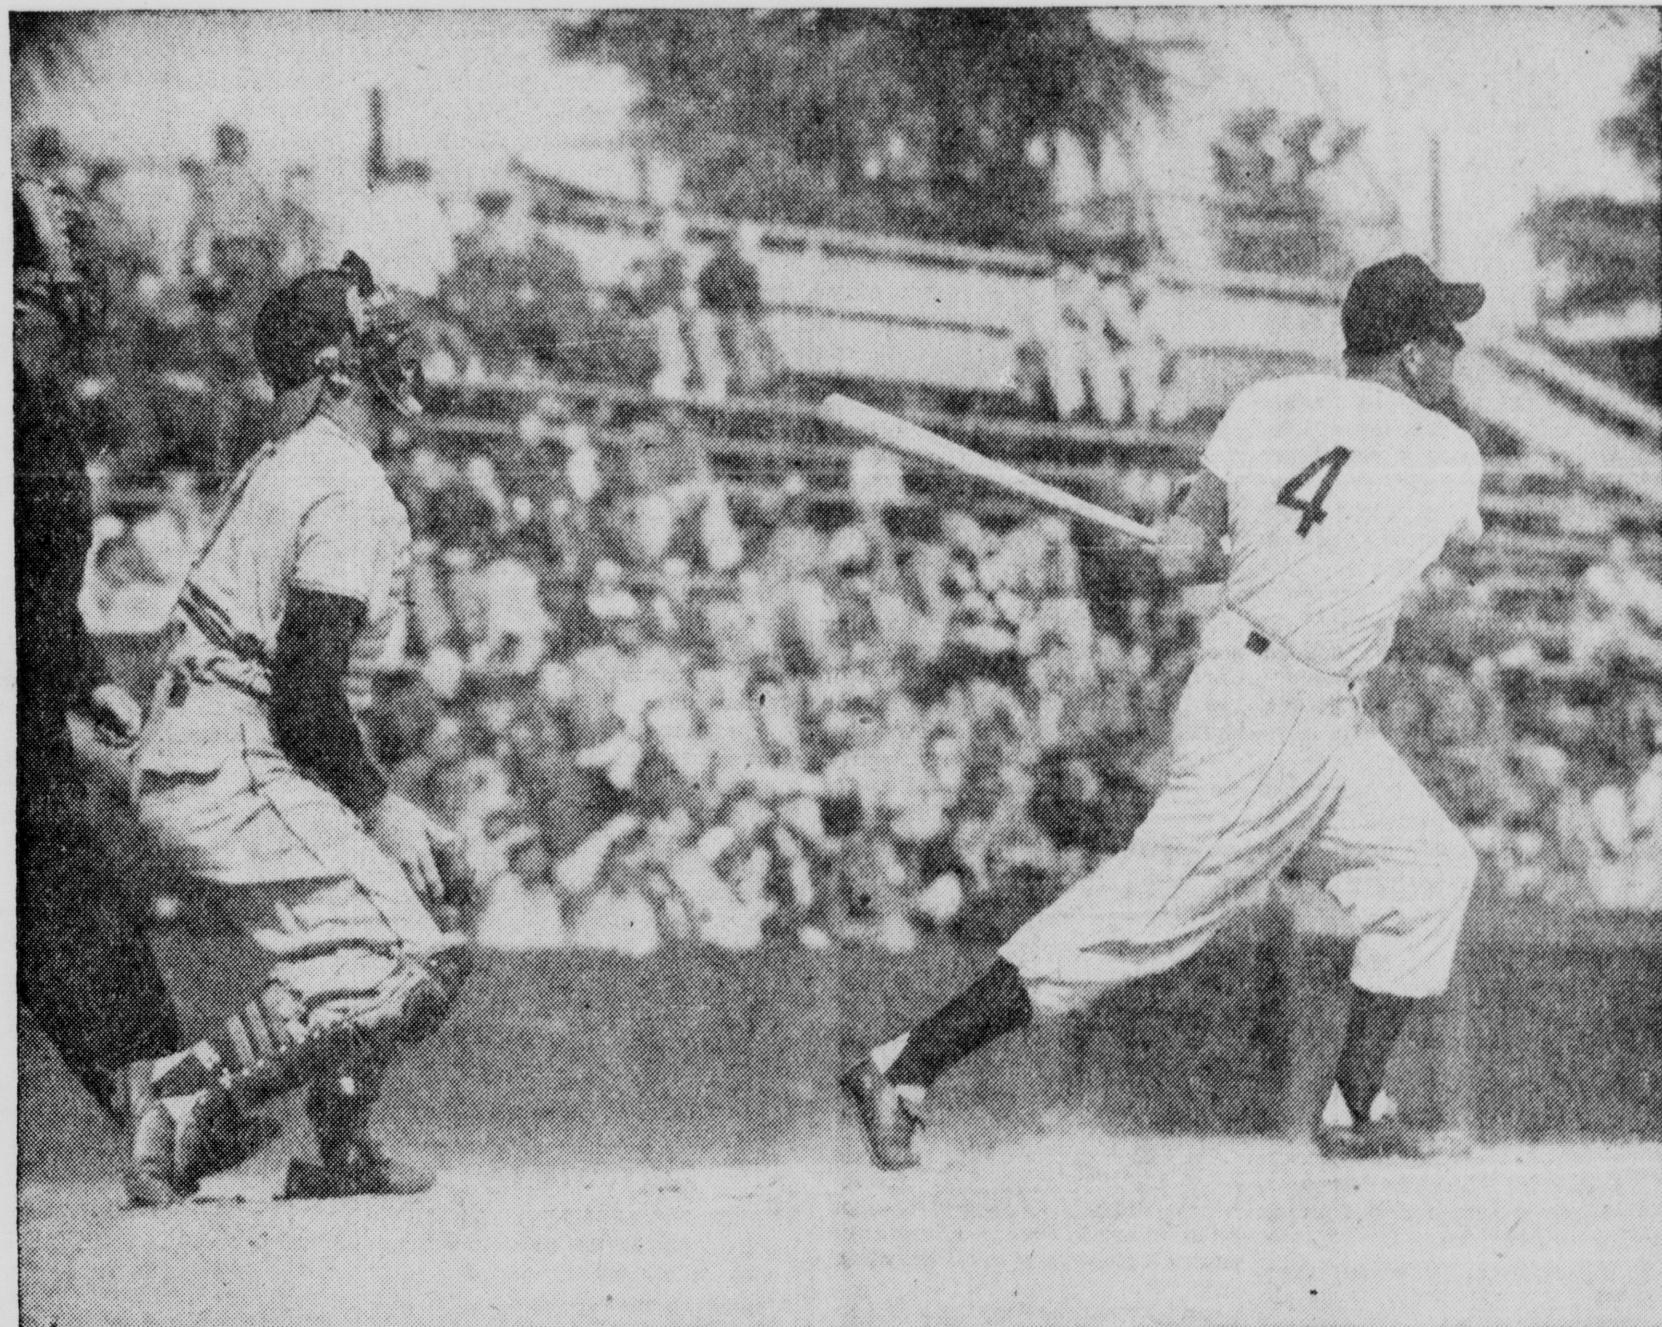

ONE WAY OR ANOTHER—U. S. Marines are hopping across the icy water of a central front river in Korea, after retreating Chinese Communists blew up the only bridge. The shallow water wasn't much of an obstacle to their equipment, either, for it easily crossed with the men.

IT'S A MARCH FAMILY—Because the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Scheer, of Wind Lake, Wis., were all born during the month of March, in different years, only one birthday party is given for them. A middle-of-the-month date is chosen and all celebrate at the same time.

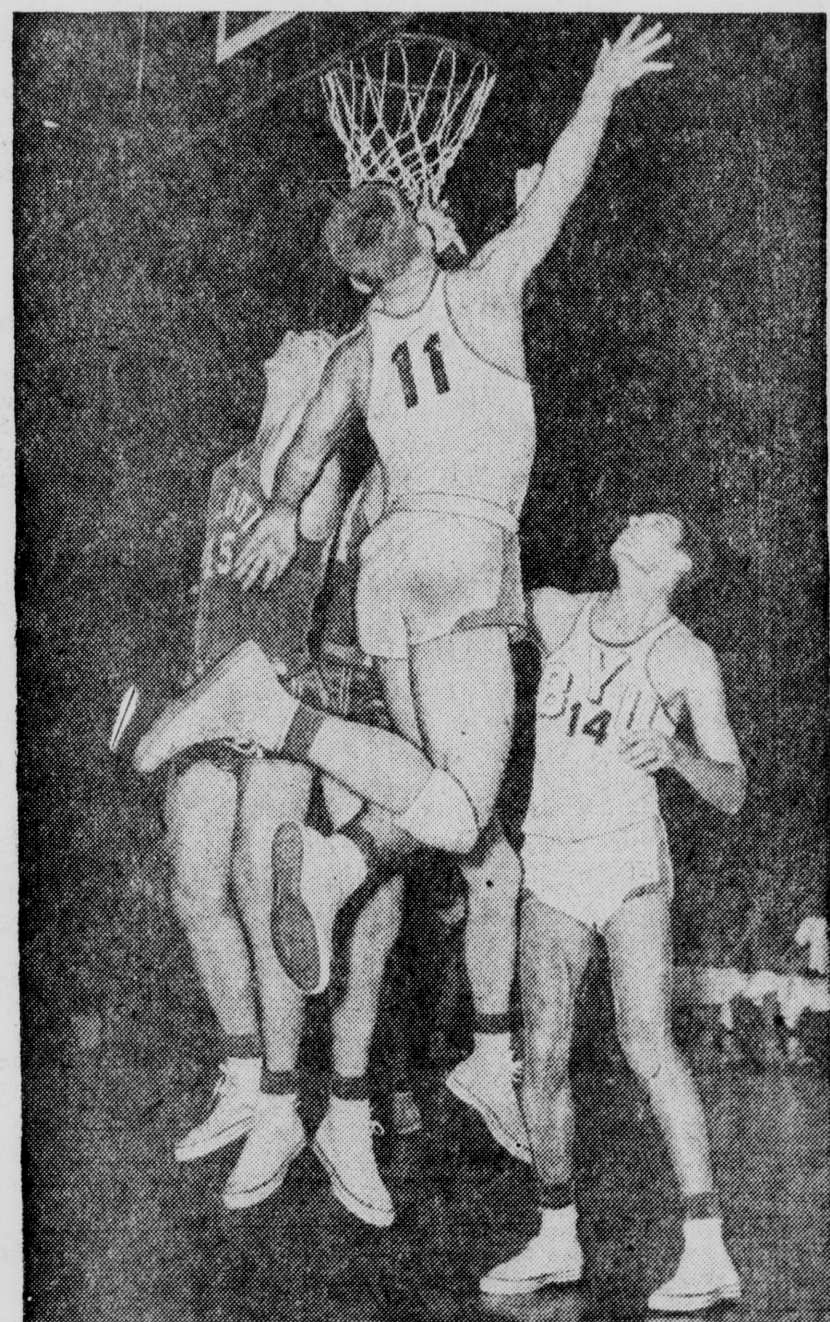

FOR SERVICEMEN—Three models make a pretty sight for this sailor and marine as they put up a sign in the new Saturday Night Canteen for servicemen in New York. It's the first canteen to open in Manhattan for servicemen and servicewomen since the Stage Door Canteen closed five years ago.

HOMER FOR KINER—Ralph Kiner, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, hits his first home run of the season during a game against the St. Louis Browns in San Bernardino, Calif. The Pirates opened their exhibition season with a 9 to 8 decision over the Browns.

DREAM COME TRUE—Four couples from Canton, O., saved $6500 during the past four years in order to take a dreamed-of vacation abroad. Shown leaving New York's LaGuardia Airport, they'll spend the next three weeks visiting six European countries. TWA and the American Express have arranged for each couple to visit a European couple who earn their living in a comparable manner.

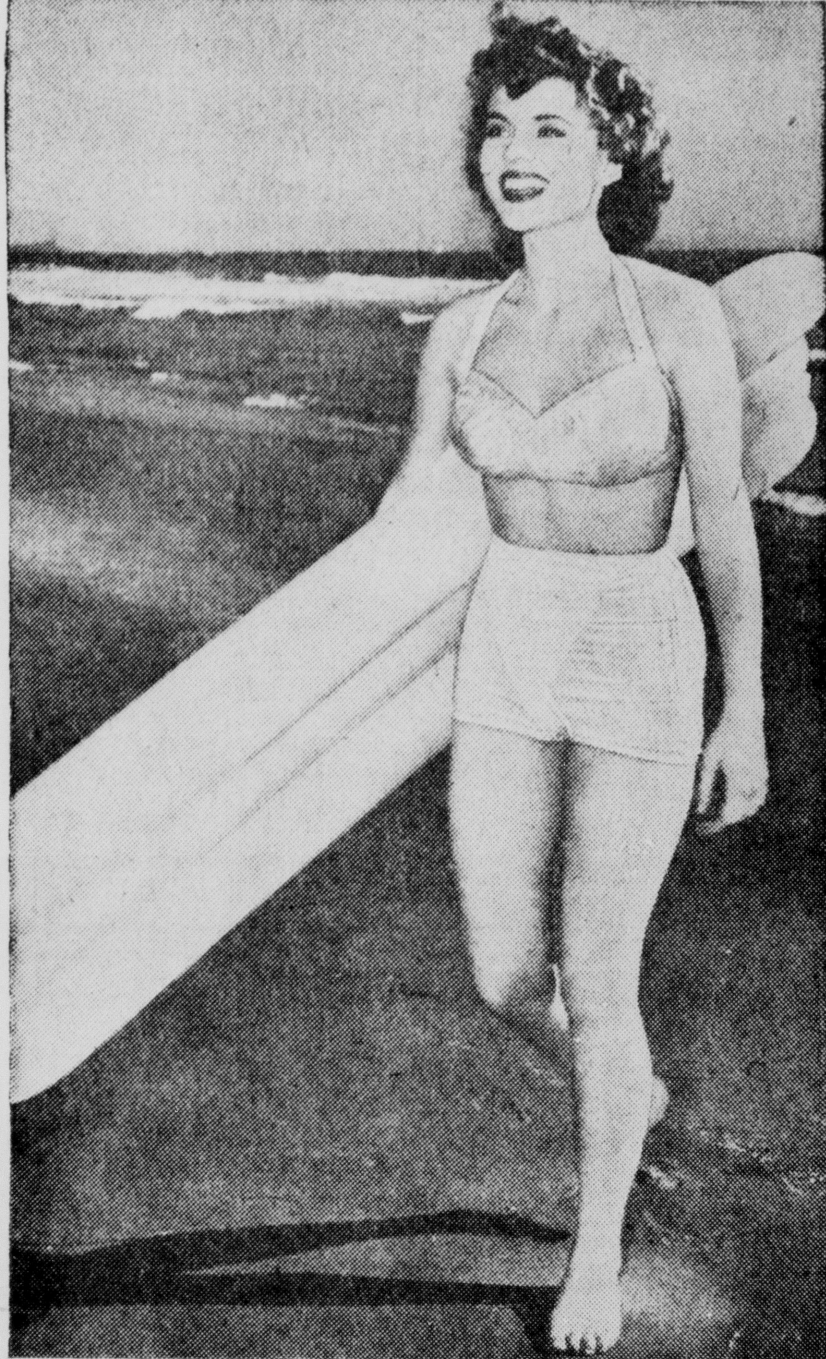

POINT V'ELL TAKEN—Roland Minson (11) of Brigham Young drops the ball through the hoop despite the frenzied defensive efforts of St. Louis' Bob Koch and Ray Sonnenberg (45) in the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament in New York. Looking on is Mel Hutchins (14) of the Cougars. Minson led BYU to a 75-58 upset win.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER—Nancy, a 22-year-old camel in the San Francisco Zoo, poses for a picture with her new daughter, who has upped her brood to four. Because of nervousness which fathers undergo at such times, Prince refused to pose with the calm mother and child.

BOLD LINE—This striking taffeta gown allows a pretty leg to show without sacrificing its formal, floor-sweeping grace. The wide-swept hipline of the dramatic overskirt is repeated in the bow motif of the strapless bodice.

A REAL SURF MAID—Serving as a fine inspiration for all budding sand-sculptors, here's a Castle in the sand—starlet Peggie Castle, that is. Peggie is on location with a film company at Malibu Beach, Calif., and her appearance on the shore brings admiring comments and plenty of wolf whistles.

Even If Pop Won't Help Out, He's Handy to Have Around

A HOME economist recently reminded women that just because a man doesn't help with the dishes or other housework, it doesn't mean he isn't contributing directly to family living. She pointed out that a man does something for his children that no woman can do, that he is a personification to his son and daughter of what a man is like.

Any widow or divorcee trying to bring up children alone knows how important that fact is—but wives often tend to overlook it. When Pop is out in the yard playing ball with Junior, or helping him mend a broken toy, or even letting him listen in while he talks man-talk with a neighbor, Pop is doing something vitally important, much more important than drying the dishes.

And when Pop teases young Susie and let's her know he is on to her feminine tricks but acts as though he enjoys them anyhow and makes her feel she is a very special little girl, Pop is doing another important job. He's letting Susie practice her essential femininity on his masculinity.

CONTRIBUTES LOTS

SO no matter how little he seems to do around the house a father contributes a lot to family living. Even if he is just praising a good meal, he is doing something for both Junior and Susie.

He is teaching Junior that women like to have their efforts praised—that the way to get along with them is to show them plenty of appreciation.

And he's teaching Susie, by the way his wife responds to his praise, that it's pretty nice to be a woman and that being able to cook a delicious meal is a real accomplishment.

Gettysburg Choir Founder

Founder and conductor of the Gettysburg College Choir, Prof. Parker B. Wagnild will lead that group in its concert of choral music to be given in First Lutheran church, Third avenue and East street, next Thursday evening, April 5, at eight o'clock. Selected recently to be the first head of the newly-founded Department of Music at Gettysburg College, Prof. Wagnild began his affiliation with the institution in 1937. Born in Jackson, Minn., he was graduated from St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., where he sang in the famed St. Olaf Choir under Dr. F. Melius Christiansen. He holds master's degrees from both New York University and Union Theological Seminary, studying at the latter institution under Dr. Clarence Dickinson.

Director Wagnild is especially insistent on precision and detail in connection with his choral work. He strives for perfection in intonation, enunciation and tonal balance and, through his unremitting efforts and skills, has molded his choir into an organization which has won exceptional praise from critics everywhere. Through his dynamic work and outstanding abilities, the Gettysburg College Choir has developed into a group which is currently rated as among outstanding choral groups in the east.

"Picture Book Cooking" Is Theme of Cooking School

The gentlemen who figure out such things have discovered that the average American homemaker spends 91 1/2 hours a year in her kitchen. And that, we think, is proof positive that Mrs. America's family-feeding job is really big business.

Friend husband would probably say that two of the essentials in any successful business are good equipment and up-to-date techniques. And the same is true of efficient operation. Kitchens equipped with modern, clock-controlled gas ranges are tops in cooking convenience.

In the Woman's Club on Wednesday and Thursday, Warren homemakers will see streamlined gas ranges in action and learn the very newest techniques in no-watch-no-worry gas cookery at a cooking school being sponsored by local gas appliance dealers. A large crowd was on hand for the first session of the school this afternoon.

Food preparation demonstrations are being conducted by Miss Margaret Easley and her assistant, Miss Mildred Naser, members of the home services staff of the Pittsburgh Group companies in the Columbia Gas System. The theme of the three-day school is "Picture Book Cooking." Because they know that picture-pretty meals have more appetite appeal than drab, colorless ones, the home economists will stress the importance of meals that are as good to look at as they are to eat. In thorough, step-by-step demonstrations they will prepare complete oven, broiler and top-of-range meals.

Miss Easley cordially invites you to come to the cooking school sessions and bring your friends. You'll have a grand time and learn lots of new and helpful cooking routines.

Friends of Canteen Are Invited To Help on Bake Sale

Friends of the Warren Youth Canteen, The Spot, are being contacted by members of the youth board of the Canteen and the Hi-Y Club in an effort to make its bake sale on Saturday a rousing success.

The sale is planned to continue throughout the day and proceeds are to be used toward providing lighting fixtures for the Canteen.

Letters have been sent out to Canteen parents, sons and daughters, and friends asking their co-operation in providing cakes, pies, rolls, bread, candy or other home made items for the sale. Anyone who was missed in the letter-sending and would like to have a hand in the project may contact LeRoy Salerno, president of the Canteen Youth Board, or Donald Wood, Hi-Y chairman for the sale. Sale items may be brought to the Canteen Saturday morning or they will be called for by some of the sale committee if that is more convenient for the donor.

Canteen programs are being carried on four days a week in its early stages, with an average attendance of about 135 boys and girls for each of the sessions, and the sponsors invite all interested to stop by and see what has been done already in the way of improvement and discuss with the student and adult boards the plans for the future.

Reservations for Elks Club Party Should Be In Early

Members of the house and entertainment committees of Warren Lodge of Elks are combining their efforts in sponsoring the sixth annual dinner-dance for members and their ladies on Saturday evening, April 7.

On the house committee are Myron Check, chairman; Fred Baldensperger, Franklin Burman, Vern E. Anderson, William C. Duff, Jr., and Robert C. Christie. Leonard Whiteshot is chairman of the entertainment group, with the following as his committee members: M. E. Larson, Leonard Knupp, Gene Fraring, Norman and Glen Grosch, Stanley Doebler, Julius Schueltz, Emmett Ecklund, John Daley, Ross Ruhlman, Jr., and H. J. Harvey.

Plans for this post-Easter affair call for dinner at seven and dancing to the music of Emie Emerson's orchestra from nine until one. The club's colors, purple and white, will be worked out in the decorative scheme, there will be corsages for the ladies, and favors for all those attending.

Since reservations must of necessity be limited to 100 couples, members are urged to secure their tickets as early as possible at the club.

FAMILY NIGHT AT IRVINGDALE PTA

The annual Family Night tureen dinner of Irvingdale PTA brought out an attendance of 140 members and friends, with the male members serving the supper. Mrs. Parthina Whitmore conducted the business session which followed, with Mrs. Cecilia Smith leading group singing and devotions.

Mrs. Gerry Archibald made announcement of a rummage sale to be held March 30-31 in the former Colonial Bakery building, also a talent show for later in the season. Elected as a nominating committee were George Johnson, chairman; Mrs. R. W. Norris and Mrs. Charles Hultman. The attendance award went to Mrs. Hunter's room.

The Girl Scouts, sponsored by the PTA, were celebrating their 16th birthday anniversary and announced they were making and sending an afghan to a family overseas. The girls demonstrated investiture of new members into the troop and the closing of a regular session.

The Boy Scouts introduced C. C. Winans who explained various phases of Scouting, and Troop 11 gave an impressive candlelighting ceremony for acceptance of a new troop member.

The Harmonica Club, which includes seventh and eighth grade pupils of the school, played several selections for the enjoyment of the group.

Russell, Mar. 27 — Mrs. Paul Wood, vice president, was in charge of the regular meeting of WSCS members, held at the church. The session opened with singing of "Blessed Assurance" and Mrs. J. L. Buck leading devotions. It was voted to contribute $10 to the Red Cross and to hold a missionary tea at the next meeting, when members will bring their mite boxes. Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Levi Learn gave a report on sick calls made. Due to much sickness and a small attendance at this meeting, election of officers was postponed until the next session, with Mrs. Andrew Lindell and Mrs. Richard Enos named as a nominating committee.

Mrs. Wood presented an Easter program and the meeting concluded with prayer by Mrs. Buck. Lunch was served by Mrs. Richard Enos, Mrs. Arthur Fehlman, Mrs. B. F. Baxter and Mrs. Harold Hovis.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

SPRING appetites need a little humor. So take a hint from the circus and invite a few cottage cheese clowns into your menus.

Let the youngsters eat all they want. Cottage cheese is a dairy food packed with milk solids and vitamins, necessary to child growth and health.

Salad Clowns (Serves 4)

Eight peach halves, 1 cup cottage cheese, 8 raisins, Maraschino cherries, parsley sprigs, lettuce.

Arrange a lettuce leaf on a salad plate for each serving. Form ¼ cup cottage cheese into a ball, stud with raisins for eyes, a sliver of maraschino cherry for a mouth, and chill. Arrange between two peach halves and secure with a toothpick. Add a whole cherry on a toothpick for a pom-pom and sprigs of parsley for ear muffs. Serve immediately.

Cheese-Fruit Salad (Serves 6)

One pound cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 No. 2 can cling peach halves, lettuce, sour cream dressing.

Mix cheese with sugar, orange rind and fruit juices and heat until smooth. Pack into individual ring mold. Chill thoroughly to stiffen. Turn out and garnish with lettuce. Fill the center of the ring molds. Chill thoroughly to lapping each other. Pour a little peach juice over the ring and serve with sour cream dressing.

Sour Cream Dressing

One-half cup thick sour cream, 2 tablespoons peach juice, pinch of salt, ½ teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Mix all ingredients and beat with a fork until well blended.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Stewed rhubarb, ready-to-eat cereal, nut coffee cake, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Cottage cheese clowns, buttered split and toasted rolls, strawberry flavored milk, tea.

DINNER: Swiss steak, mashed potatoes, green beans with chopped almonds, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, raw carrot sticks, apple sauce cake, coffee, milk.

RUSSIA: Kremlin's effort to "industrialize" agriculture meets stiff resistance by saboteurs, open rebellion. Anti-Soviet underground active in Ukraine.

CHINA: Mao, stooging for Kremlin in Korea, sees his best troops destroyed. Millions of Chinese are anti-Communist. Guerrillas increase in number and violence. Reds slaughter thousands for "counter-revolutionary activity."

CZECHOSLOVAKIA: Disaffection widespread; ex-Foreign Minister Clementis arrested as Titoist. President Gottwald under suspicion. Purges expel 165,000 from the party.

FRANCE: Reds, once million strong, have lost some 300,000 members. Party split into pro-Moscow and anti-Moscow factions. Leader Thorez deposed.

ITALY: Aldo Cuccchi and Valdo Magnani, Red leaders and members of Chamber of Deputies, resign from party, calling for independence from Moscow. Hundreds of Italian Communists follow their lead.

POLAND: Moscow's stooge premier has firm grip but peasants fight collectivization. Stalin had to send Russian Marshal Rokossowski to run Polish army.

GERMANY: Party purge by West German Reds expels four state chairmen and a state legislator. In East Germany, 14 Soviet officers reported hanged for plotting death of Stalin and other Russian leaders.

BALKANS: Yugoslavia's Tito is more of thorn in Stalin's side than ever. His defiance inspires defections in Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. Satellites suffer labor absenteeism, sabotage and "hostile manifestations."

Stalin & Co. spend a lot of their time trying to stir up trouble among the world's free peoples, but they also spend a lot of time and sweat coping with their own headaches behind the Iron Curtain. Layout above highlights some of those headaches, which, many observers believe, add up to a mess of trouble that is a serious deterrent to further Soviet expansion in Europe.

WHAT DO I OWN WHEN I OWN A SHARE OF STOCK?

When you own a share of stock, you own a share of a business.

Let's say you own just one share of common stock in an automobile company. Then you are an owner of an interest in that company, in its factories, materials, products, reputation, even in the skill of its workers and management.

Or let's say you own a share, or ten shares, of a company in a different industry—a railroad, a drug and chemical concern, a public utility, a food processor, an airplane maker. Again you own an interest in everything that company has—its laboratories, supplies, patents, know-how.

You have a certificate showing that you are one of the legal owners. That certificate is registered in your name on the books of the company. You have the right, with other stockholders, to elect the men who run the business and who report to you on the company's operations.

The number of shares you hold measures your part of the company—your part of the profits it may earn, the dividends it may pay, the ownership risks you have assumed. Whether you own one share or seven or 1,000, you own a share of a business... and to that extent it is your company.

Shares in hundreds of different companies are bought and sold daily on the New York Stock Exchange by people all over the country. These companies are "listed." They meet certain requirements when they placed their shares on the Exchange.

Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, is available without obligation at offices of member firms of the New York Stock Exchange.

Cooties Sponsor an Easter Party For Vets in Hospital

The monthly visitation to veterans at Warren State Hospital by Hay Rake Pup Tent No. 40, Military Order of Cooties, was in the form of an Easter party, with presentation of baskets prepared by Cooties and Cootettes.

A program of entertainment was made possible by the generous donation of time and talent by the following: Band, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Winner, Lloyd VanTassel, LeRoy Johnson and Kenneth Johnson; Sons of Italy floor show, featuring Rose Marie in songs and dances and Sam Sloan, emcee; Vets' Club floor show, featuring Marian Beals, emcee, with her novelty puppets and Lee Wayne, specialty dancer.

Following the show, Cooties and Cootettes served ice cream and cake and each veteran was presented an Easter basket of candy, with cigarettes, tobacco and magazines. Baskets were also distributed to bed patients who were unable to assemble for the party.

The purpose of the Military Order of Cooties is to bring joy and happiness to those veterans who are hospitalized, with the slogan, "Keep 'em Smiling in Beds of White". Hay Rake Pup Tent is most appreciative of the efforts of all who cooperated to make this Easter presentation possible.

Government Price Experts Aim to Fix Ceiling Prices on Meats

however, he didn't think he was being too optimistic in making the mid-April forecast.

The official, who asked not to be quoted by name, told a reporter "mid-April would be a good guess. We're working as fast as we can and the various parts of the meat puzzle are beginning to fall into place."

Previously OPA authorities had indicated regulations covering live hogs and dressed pork would come first, to be followed by ceilings of dressed beef and live cattle.

The aim now is to get the entire meat situation settled at one time or at least with the regulations on beef following closely those on pork.

Officials arranged to confer with livestock representatives today.

Cattle Still Graze on a Billion Acres in U. S. A.

The grasslands, hay lands and forested range lands of the United States cover 1,135,000,000 acres, nearly 60 per cent of the total land area. They furnish about half of the feed for all livestock.

Nearly 250 million acres of the virgin grasslands have been plowed up and used for crops or for pasture in rotation with crops. The central prairies which formed the largest body of highly productive soils in America, have been converted almost entirely to crop land. Of the 400 million acres of western semiarid lands, about 12 million acres have been reclaimed by irrigation.

The country has more than 175 million acres of improved pasture on fair to good land, but most grazing lands are semiarid or rough, uncultivated, unfertilized, with relatively poor soil as compared with crop land. The best are on the great plains of the west, nearly 750,000 acres now mostly privately owned ranches.

The dominant vegetation of 125 million acres of southwestern arid grazing lands is desert shrub, some species of which are grazed and browsed, but others are not palatable and cannot be grazed. Most of these lands in New Mexico, Arizona and southern California, are publicly owned and are used little or not at all for grazing.

The Pacific Coast States have nearly 100 million acres of grazing land, both open and forested. The humid pastures of Washington and Oregon contain about 8.5 million acres, and the irrigated pastures of the West about 2 million acres. Even if all the usable parts of western grazing lands were pushed to their physical limits as croplands, there would still be some 500 million acres left for grazing. Though the carrying capacity on the whole is low per acre, many of the grasses and other plants are nutritious and supply feed for a large portion of the nation's livestock.

Second Half Y City Basketball League Campaign Ends in Draw

SECOND HALF—30 Smith and Lawton Atlantic tied the Style Shop for top spot in the second-half play of the Y City League last night by trimming the Rockets 68-46 in the final game of the season schedule.

Both teams have completed the second half with a 9-1 record and will have a one-game playoff later this week to decide the second-round winners. The Style Shop made a clean sweep of the first-half and would therefore take the championship by winning the first playoff. A best-of-three series will be set if the situation is reversed.

Bill Weidert set up Atlantic's triumph in last night's action, pumping in 29 points, just three points short of tying his earlier season's record. Also for Atlantic, Bill Massa played in 15, while Bill Tannler and Chuck Sherman plugged away for 13 and 12 for the Rockets.

The victors took the lead from the start and held it all the way, going ahead 33-24 at intermission. In the third period the Atlantic five poured it on holding the Rockets almost scoreless. The Rockets came back nicely in the final stanza, Sherman leading the way with his 12 counters, but were far from coming close to the large margin against them.

Approval Is Given College Basketball At Madison Garden

New York, March 27—(P)—College basketball will continue to be played in Madison Square Garden.

That was decided yesterday when the presidents of Manhattan, New York University and St. John's University announced "it is our firm conviction that college basketball can be played in the Garden without our student-players succumbing to corruption as disclosed in the recent scandal."

The college heads, in a joint statement, declared that the idea that "Madison Square Garden is totally responsible for the present status of intercollegiate basketball in metropolitan New York, and that the college gymnasium is a panacea for this evil is a myth."

"In spite of the college gymnasium, in spite even of education permeated with ethical, cultural and religious principles, it is still possible to have corruption, if the individual does not exercise courageously the powers of his own personality."

The statement was issued after a meeting of the very Rev. John A. Flynn, C. M. president of St. John's; Brother Bonaventure Thomas, F. S. C., president of Manhattan; and James L. Madden, acting chancellor at New York University, with Brig. Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of The Garden, and Bernard Gimbel, who represented The Garden board of directors.

Underclassmen Top Ex-Varsity Cagers In Overtime Battle

A team of this year's Warren High varsity men, with the exception of one, were showed up by an underclassmen five at the Y last night when the younger set won, 45-43, in an overtime period. Playing with the seniors were John Berardi, Jim Sigworth, Bob Foley, Paul Gordon, all lettermen, and Chuck Irvin of the City League. On the opposition were Bernie Gray, Dick Hartnett, Jerry Leonard, Ronnie Isaacson and Ben Patrick.

It was experience against height and spirit, the latter giving the underclassmen their happy victory, as they came from behind a 12-2 first quarter margin. By half time the victors had cut the lead to two points.

Scoring favored the Seniors 11-10 in the third stanza. Mid-way in the closing quarter, Isaacson, with a lay-up shot, put his team ahead for the first time, 34-33.

Leonard and Isaacson contributed twin-counters and Hartnett a free throw for a four point margin.

But with less than a minute remaining, Gordon made a lay-up and Foley hit from mid-court to send the game into a three-minute overtime.

Berardi scored first for the losers, but Hartnett stole the ball and matched it. Then Sigworth and Patrick matched field goals, before Gray ripped the nets with the winning basket with only seconds left.

Patrick and Leonard blazed the victory trail with 14 and 12 points respectively for the Underclassmen. For the Seniors, John Gerard had top honors with 14.

Never Explain Decisions, New Umpires Are Told

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, 1—(NEA)—

The progress of an umpire roughly parallels that of the ball player in that he works his way through the minors aiming for the major leagues.

Very few of the superior arbiters stood out as players. Most of them were inconsequential, if they performed at all. Only four of the present crop of big league men in blue were renowned as athletes—Pitcher Lon Warneke and Third Baseman Babe Pinelli of the National League and Pitcher Eddie Rommel and Catcher Charley Berry of the American.

There are finds among umpires just as there are among players, which means that some scale the heights much quicker than others. Eight of the 15 American, five of the 13 National League umpires made the big jump in the last half dozen years.

Two, Larry Napp and Jim Duffy, break into the American League this spring. Napp of Staten Island was obtained from the International, Duffy of Pawtucket from the American Association.

They are now getting their baptismal major league fire in the Florida Grapefruit League.

There is vastly more to umpiring than pumping up a chest protector and calling combatants out or a strike with a flourish. This Messrs. Napp and Duffy know now, and will be told again and again when paired with seasoned American League umpires.

"THOMAS H. CONNOLLY and Billy Evans years ago discovered that the majority of widely-discussed tough decisions seldom, if ever, have to be made," William A. McGowan, for one, will instruct. "Go concentrate on every-day problems."

"Umpiring is largely a matter of common sense and good judgment. Call them as you see them, and never tell why. Explaining why you call a runner out or safe, in many cases, signifies weakness."

"An umpire who calls a runner out on a tight play, by meekly waving a finger or two, or by a slight wave of the hand, places doubt in the player's mind and fans get the same impression. Be emphatic. Don't pull a rule book out of your pocket on the field. Leave it in your bag in the dressing room. Players would run you crazy reaching for that book on every other play."

"You're running the game. Make 'em abide by your decisions."

Former Teammates Serve as Bearers

By The Associated Press

Boston, March 27—(P)—Two men who played with him in the Philadelphia Athletics' astonishing $100,000 infield will be among the bearers tomorrow at the funeral of Edward Trowbridge (Eddie) Collins, vice president of the Boston Red Sox.

They are John (Stuffy) McInnis, present Harvard coach who was the A's first baseman, and Jack Barry, Holy Cross coach who was the team's shortstop. Collins played second for that great club. Will Harbridge, American League president will be bearer and so will Tom Yawkey who bought the Red Sox only on the condition Collins help him rebuild the team.

The others will be Joseph and Frank Stevens, lifelong friends of Collins, who are caterers at ball parks and race tracks.

Collins, who died Sunday night of a recurrent heart ailment at the age of 63, will be buried in neighboring Weston after a requiem mass at the church of the Advent (Episcopal). The mass at 10:30 A. M. (EST) will be said by the Rev. Peter R. Blynn. Services at the grave will be conducted by the Rev. Whitney Hale.

Chapter 3

THE Vargians were completely indifferent. They left the displays of dissected and pickled Vargians from the wreck in the museums undisturbed. Even on the rare occasions when some fool shot a Vargian they merely took the corpse away and ignored the incident, not even asking the regular police force to hunt for the culprit. They did not kill—they paralyzed. If someone refused to obey their rare orders they gave him mild doses of paralysis until he obeyed. When he obeyed they left him alone.

"They could even be seen in the audiences in churches, gravely listening, saying nothing, going away as quietly and well behaved as they had come. One minister even spent his sermon period discussing the problem of whether Vargians had souls and the Vargians present listened attentively and without comment or expression."

"I've said they became quite conversational. That's true—about everything we human beings know; but even to this day no one has the slightest idea about where the Vargians came from, or anything else about them. They—"

"You mean," Ray Bradley interrupted, "that in seventeen years of occupation by the Vargians no one has ever gained the slightest clue as to their origin?"

"That's right," Arthur Granger said. The other three nodded their heads solemnly. "We have theories and ideas, of course. Books have been written discussing the origin of the Vargians." He smiled wryly. "Those books are read very avidly by the Vargians, and while they read them they never crack a smile or otherwise let on what reactions they get from our theorizing about them."

"What is the best theory you have on them?" Joe asked. "After all this time you must have one theory backed by sufficient evidence to make it, it sound better than any other."

"There has arisen the theory that they are from an adjacent three-space, and have found out how to travel into the fourth space dimension and land in this three-space."

"But that theory has several disadvantages. In the first place, from an abstract point of analysis, traveling from rest in one mathematical plane to rest in another most of the major unoccupied cities, and sub-basements and other underground spaces were converted into livable quarters, so that at least the scientists could have some place to carry on the work of nibbling at the problem of how to eventually get rid of the Vargians.

"So you can understand our carelessness. Today, except in such places as this, all research work is constantly supervised by the Vargians."

COOKING CAN BE FUN say Miss Margaret Easley (right) and her assistant, Miss Mildred Naser, gas company home economists who have come to town to tell local homemakers about the joys of easy-does-it, clock-controlled gas cookery. These home service experts are giving helpful hints on meal planning and preparation in cooking schools being sponsored by local gas appliance dealers.

In their "Picture Book Cooking" demonstrations, Miss Easley and Miss Naser cook up dishes that are as delightful to look at as they are delicious to eat. Typical of the tasties prepared is this luscious ham loaf the girls have just taken from the oven of the streamlined gas range. Here's how they made the loaf:

- BAKED HAM LOAF

 - 3 pounds ground raw smoked ham
 - 2 pounds ground fresh pork
 - 4 slightly beaten eggs
 - 1 cup milk
 - ¼ teaspoon pepper
 - 2 cups fine cracker crumbs
- MUSTARD SAUCE

 - 1½ cups brown sugar
 - 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 - ½ cup water
 - ½ cup vinegar

Method:

 - 1. Mix ingredients together; boil 10 minutes.
 - 2. Pour over ham and continue to bake ½ hour.

Method:

- 1. Mix ingredients together; turn out on a cookie sheet or breadboard and shape with hands into the form of a ham.

Holy Week Services Are Well Attended

Youngsville, Mar. 27 — Holy Week and Easter services in local churches brought inspirational messages and fine music and were all well attended. Union services were held nightly during the week in various local churches, communion services were held Thursday evening and Good Friday, a union three-hour service took place in Saron Lutheran church.

On Easter morning, churches were well filled, and each had a special sermon and musical numbers.

Young people of the Methodist church had charge of an early service, with scripture reading by Elizabeth Day; prayer, Ruth Withington; piano solo, Ardelle Johnson; poem, Shirley Egbert; solo, Russell Luther; address by Edith Husted, with brief pictures of Easter services she had attended in Japan, India and Korea; piano solo, Irma Carlson; benediction, Sally Bechtel.

Rev. E. W. Chitester brought the message for the regular morning worship and the choir sang a special Easter anthem.

The Free Methodist church will have evangelistic services March 28 to April 8, with Rev. Fred R. Lester, Oskaloosa, Iowa, as the youth evangelist. There will be special singing for each service, also, and young people of the church extend a cordial invitation to all interested.

Easter Sunday guests at the H. H. Husted home were their son, Ted, with his wife and daughter from Lakewood. Accompanying him was their student guest, Mary Atalla, Cairo, Egypt, senior at Smith College.

Official Says Staggering Sum Required to Correct Pollution

Washington—(AP)—A public health service official says it will cost between $8,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 "to correct water pollution in the United States."

Dr. D. M. Hollis, associate chief of the service's bureau of state services, indicated in testimony before a house appropriations subcommittee that most of this cost would be borne by cities and by private industry.

"This $8,000,000,000 to $12,000,000,000 I mentioned is about equally divided in terms of the expenditure required by cities and by industries," Hollis said.

"Hence, if we take $4,000,000,000 as the minimum requirement of cities to correct their problem on the basis of a 10-year program, that means that cities should expend at the rate of about $400,000,000 a year."

Hollis testified during a hearing on requests for funds to run the health service during the fiscal year starting July 1.

The health service is asking $1,457,000 for studies, surveys and research on water pollution control. Much of this work is done at the Cincinnati, Ohio, environmental health center.

In addition, the service wants $1,000,000 for grants to states and interstate agencies for industrial waste studies.

The service this year had available $1,434,024 for its own research and about $1,000,000 for grants.

Last month, the staff of the president's water resources policy commission said in a report that pollution of the main stream of the Ohio river and many of its tributaries "is perhaps the most important water problem confronting federal, state, and local agencies."

Hollis said that since 1947, cities and municipalities have spent $1,000,000,000 on sewage treatment facilities. During that same period, he added, industry built more than 500 industrial waste treatment works.

The health service official said collection and analysis of data to be used in development of comprehensive water pollution control programs for 10 major watersheds of the nation will be completed by July.
